

We are very happy with the support and service we receive from Sonic.net and we do not support any legislation that would leave them, or any other small suppliers, out of the DSL business